

Please the ruling as is and do not change it. Not only did Sorenson spend years of research and millions of dollars developing the VP-100 as well as the D-Link and the i2eye which is given free to community members who rely on sign language to communicate. This is no different than Sprint giving me a cell phone with the agreement that I will use Sprint service only. Why would Sprint want to provide me with a "free" cell phone if I am going to go to Cingular (or other provider) to use their service? Please leave the ruling as it is now.
Thank you.
